MRF and AMD ANNOUNCE JOINT 2018 REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The Migraine Research Foundation (MRF) and the Association of Migraine Disorders (AMD) announce the opening of a joint Request for Proposals for migraine research grants. MRF is committed to discovering the causes, improving the treatments, and finding a cure, and AMD stimulates increased research specifically in the area of migraine disorders. We are looking for projects that will help sufferers by advancing our ability to understand and treat migraine. As a result, we provide seed money grants for transformational projects that will ultimately lead to better treatment and quality of life for sufferers of migraine and migraine disorders.

While we welcome all proposals relevant to basic or clinical migraine research, we are particularly interested in translational projects and those related to migraine variants, childhood migraine, and chronic migraine.

If you are interested in applying for a grant, complete the application found at MigraineResearchFoundation.org. If you have any questions, call us in New York at 212-249-5402, or email us at research@MigraineResearchFoundation.org.

GUIDELINES FOR RESEARCH PROPOSAL SUBMISSION

GRANT AWARD: A maximum of $50,000 will be awarded for each grant.

GRANT DURATION: The expected project duration is one year.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: August 3, 2108.

FUNDING RESTRICTIONS: All grants must be used exclusively for research and directly related research equipment. Capital expenditures, administrative costs, institutional overhead including IRB approval, publication costs and travel costs will not be funded. Fringe benefits on salaries are capped at 25%.

Due to the large number of grant requests we receive, applications must follow the required format and conform to the guidelines to be considered.
